

Gabriel Díaz Montemayor is an Assistant Dean for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion and Associate Professor of Landscape Architecture at the Fay Jones School of Architecture + Design at the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville, where he arrived in the Fall of 2019. Previously, he taught the School of Architecture at The University of Texas at Austin, and at The Design School of Arizona State University in Tempe. He also taught courses at the College of Architecture Design and Construction of Auburn University. Gabriel was an architecture design studio and thesis professor at the Superior Institute of Architecture and Design in Chihuahua, Mexico, and was a visiting professor at the New School of Architecture of the Polytechnic University of Puerto Rico at San Juan. Gabriel has guest taught at Monterrey Tech Chihuahua and Hermosillo, Universidad de Monterrey and Universidad Autónoma de Nuevo León in Monterrey, Escuela de Arquitectura in Guadalajara, Universidad San Francisco de Quito, and the Universidad Marista of Merida.

Gabriel is a founding partner of LABOR (Landscape, Architecture, Border) Studio based in Chihuahua City since 2002. The work produced by the office is characterized by a broad range of scales in private and public commissions, mostly, in the state of Chihuahua, México. Among the outstanding works are the Urban Design Guidelines for the Urban Edges of Chihuahua and the Tabalaopa Master Plan, both winners of Professional Awards granted by the Arizona Chapter of the ASLA, and the Vistas Cerro Grande Corridor, in Chihuahua City, winner of an honorable mention at the Third Latin American Landscape Architecture Biennial.

Gabriel is a member of the American Society of Landscape Architects (ASLA) since 2008 and was a member of the Board of Directors of the Congress of New Urbanism Central Texas Chapter from 2014 to 2018.

Gabriel studied architecture at the Superior Institute for Architecture and Design of Chihuahua. Gabriel holds the professional architect title from the Universidad Autónoma de Chihuahua. Gabriel got his Master in Landscape Architecture from Auburn University, Alabama, in 2007.

Gabriel has guest lectured at the Marista University of Mérida, the Autonomous University of Sinaloa in Culiacán, Monterrey Tech in Hermosillo, Woodbury University in San Diego/Tijuana, the American Institute of Architects New Mexico Chapter in Albuquerque, the Universidad Piloto of Bogota, the Colombian Society of Architects in Bogota, ISTHMUS School in Panama, UT San Antonio, and the GSD Landscape Architecture Program at Harvard University, among others. His work has been published in various journals, magazines, and venues, including Arquine Magazine, Domus México, Aula Journal, Progressive Planning, KERB, Sustainability Journal, Journal of Urbanism, and Landscape Architecture Magazine.